

Nursery Newsletter

As most of the children are now settled into school life we have been thinking about sounds in our environment as part of our phonic work.

The children have been listening to sounds in our classroom, in the garden and around school and they were amazed by all of the different sounds they could hear. We had lots of great predictions too about what we might have heard in the garden, including dinosaurs and fireworks!

This week the children have also been busy finding blue things in our nursery for our colour table and we even got the chance to make some yummy blue icing to decorate our biscuits.

Story of the week

Rhyme of the week

Little Boy Blue come blow your horn,
the sheep's in the meadow,
the cow's in the corn.

But where's the boy who looks after the sheep?
He's under the haystack fast asleep.

An important letter went home earlier this week with information on applying for your child's reception place for September 2019. It is available to complete online and if you need any help please speak to a member of staff.

We also ask that if you have not returned your child's All About Me booklet and contact sheet that you please hand it in next week so that we can keep all of our records up to date.

Thank you.

Listening Homework

This week we have been on listening walks around school and in our garden. Ask your child to sit quietly and tell you what they can hear. This can be inside, outside or both.
