Lister face the dragons and win! Hip hip, hooray!

The Out of Hours team won first prize at a Dragons' Den. A competition ran by Liverpool Learning Partnership (LLP) for their Food Frenzy game app.

The team competed against 13 primary, secondary and special schools and won with their creative design aimed help to support maths in the classroom.

The team presented their maths-based designs to both their peers and a board of education and business professionals.

The children presented their work formally but then had the opportunity to take part in a 'marketplace' where they could find out more about each other's designs and ask their own questions of the other teams.

"The standard of the work entered and presented was extremely high and it was incredibly difficult for the dragons to reach a consensus but eventually the winning schools were chosen.

The dragons loved their pitch and their rap to market the app, which resulted in us being the primary school winner and we were up against 15 schools which made it a very tough competition"
